OSHA
&
The Trucking Industry

Kenny Ray
VP Safety & Risk Consulting
Cline Wood, a Marsh McLennan Agency
Dallas, TX

Am I regulated by OSHA?
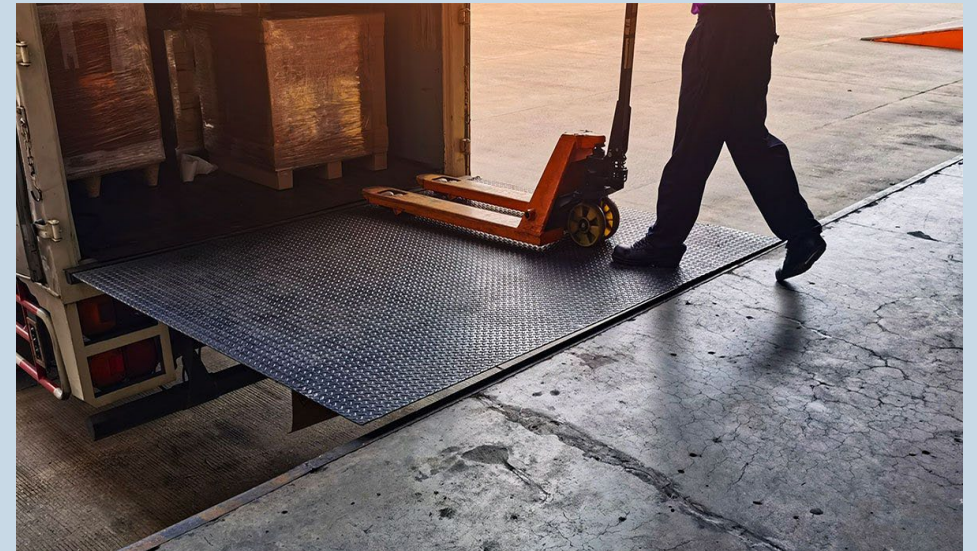

The short answer is… YES!

The better question is… To what degree am I regulated by OSHA?

OSHA Areas of Concern for Trucking

1. Injury/Illness Recording and Reporting

2. Maintenance/Shop Activities

3. Hazardous Communications

4. Loading/Unloading

OSHA Areas of Concern for Trucking

5. Hazardous Materials Spill Response
6. Emergency Action Plans
7. OSHA-Required Training
8. Whistleblower Protection

Injury/Illness Reporting & Recording

-29 CFR Part 1904

- Partial Exemptions for Recording
    - 10 or fewer employees for the entire year
    - Certain NAICS Codes (Per Establishment)

Injury/Illness Reporting & Recording

- All employers are required to report
  - Fatalities (Report w/in 8 hours) *
  - In-Patient Hospitalizations (Report w/in 24 hours) *
  - Amputation (Report w/in 24 hours) *
  - Loss of an Eye (Report w/in 24 hours) *

Reporting MVA exempt unless in construction zone

Injury/Illness Reporting & Recording

- Records (300, 300-A, 301) are establishment-specific and kept 5 years

- 300-A posted Feb 1 – Apr 30

- Requirement for electronic submission of records (20 or more employees) by Mar 2
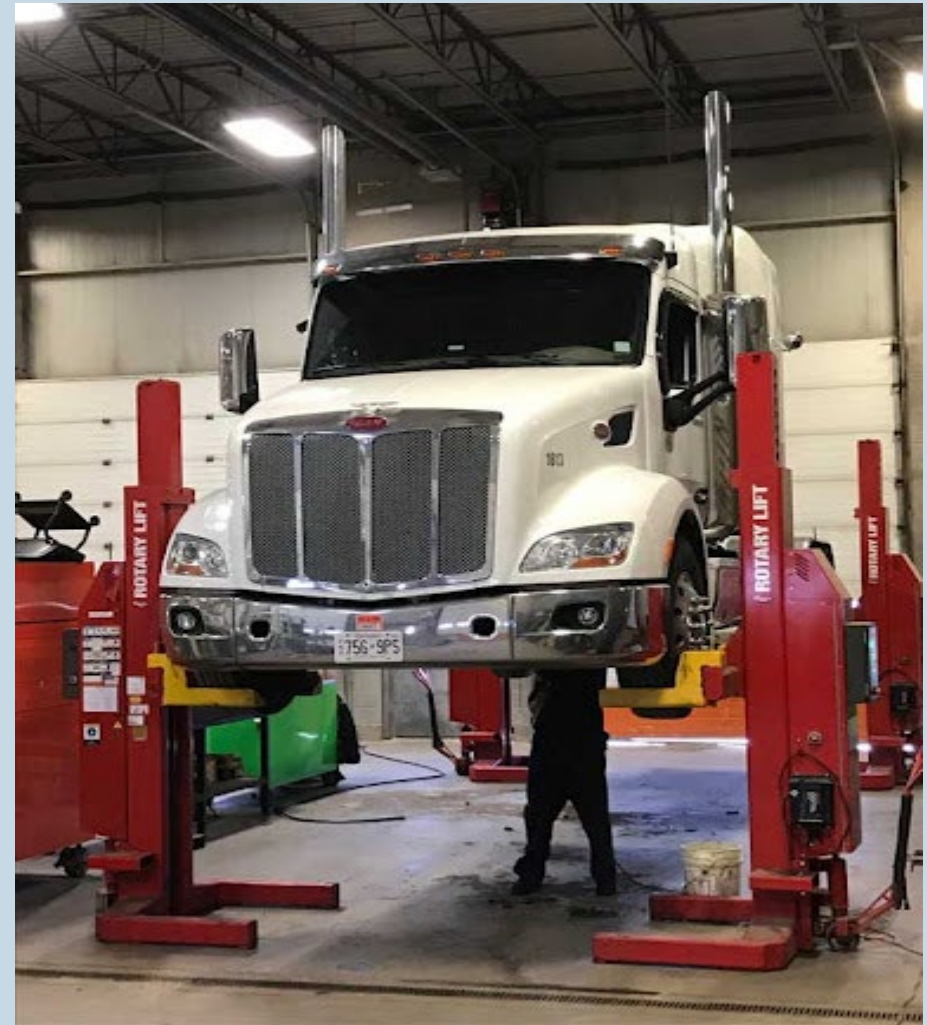

Maintenance and Shop Activities

- Housekeeping

- Exit Signs & Routes

- Chemical Storage

- Use of PPE

- Confined Space Entry

- Fall Protection

- First Aid

- Hot Work

Maintenance and Shop Activities

- Lockout/Tagout

- Fire Extinguishers

- Servicing Tires

- Forklifts

- Ladders

- Jacks

- Electrical Wiring

- Power Tools

Hazardous Communications (HazCom)

1. Written Program
2. Safety Data Sheets
3. Labels/Pictograms
4. Training

Emergency Action Plans

1. Fire
2. Severe Weather
3. Workplace Violence
4. Site-Specific Hazards

OSHA Required Training

- Bloodborne Pathogens

- Emergency Action Plans

- Fire Extinguishers

- Respirators

- Forklifts

- HazCom

- Fall Protection

- Lockout/Tagout

Review Handouts